Predictive Starts Work in Mali

Predictive Discovery Limited (ASX: PDI) is pleased to announce that it has been granted three exploration authorisations in southern Mali, covering a total area of 250km<sup>2</sup>, and has started field work on them:

- All three areas lie in the vicinity of recorded gold and lithium occurrences.
- Exploration ground was selected based on Predictore™ analysis of Mali geophysical and geological data sets.
- Initial work consists of stream sediment sampling, rock chip sampling, geological mapping and geophysical data interpretation.
- Potential for greenfields gold and lithium mineralisation.
- Exploration authorisations in Mali give holders the rights to undertake reconnaissance field work and, if warranted, make a full exploration permit application within 4 months of grant. No fees are payable, so they represent a “free option” to assess an area’s potential before applying for long term tenure.

Mr Paul Roberts, Predictive’s Managing Director said: “We are very excited to start exploration in Mali, a country with great potential for large new greenfields gold discoveries. We started work on an assessment of opportunities in the country, using our Predictore™ methodology, in mid-last year, with initial field inspections of priority areas in late 2017. While these new authorisations give us an initial foothold in the country, we are also in discussions with local permit holders regarding possible option/joint venture agreements with the aim of expanding our footprint in the country further.”
